

St James Church Men's group - plans for early 2018

Members of our men's group have decided to run our meetings looking at and thinking about classic films. We are going to watch a classic film one evening and then go away with some questions and return to discuss the film one week later. This pattern with a new film would then be repeated say 3 weeks later. The aim would be to consider the human condition, the way that we as humans react to various situations and what that has to say to us as people living in the 21st century, as well as thinking what our faith has to say about this. The films we have thought of are:

The Polansky film "The Pianist" (not the piano!),
"The lives of others", a film about the East German Stasi,
"The tale of two cities" 1958 edition,
"The killing fields".

All of these are well known films which are recognised as classics.

We will be watching the first film on Friday 26th January 2018 at 7.00 pm at 15 Church End Bid-denham, starting with a pint and a meal. We will then convene the next week on Fri 2nd February 2018 at the same time again with a meal etc to discuss the film. We will watch another film later in February.

We would be very delighted to welcome new members. If you are coming, please let Edwin or Peta Martin know on 01234348718 or edandpete@hotmail.com so we can prepare a meal for you.

November 2017.
